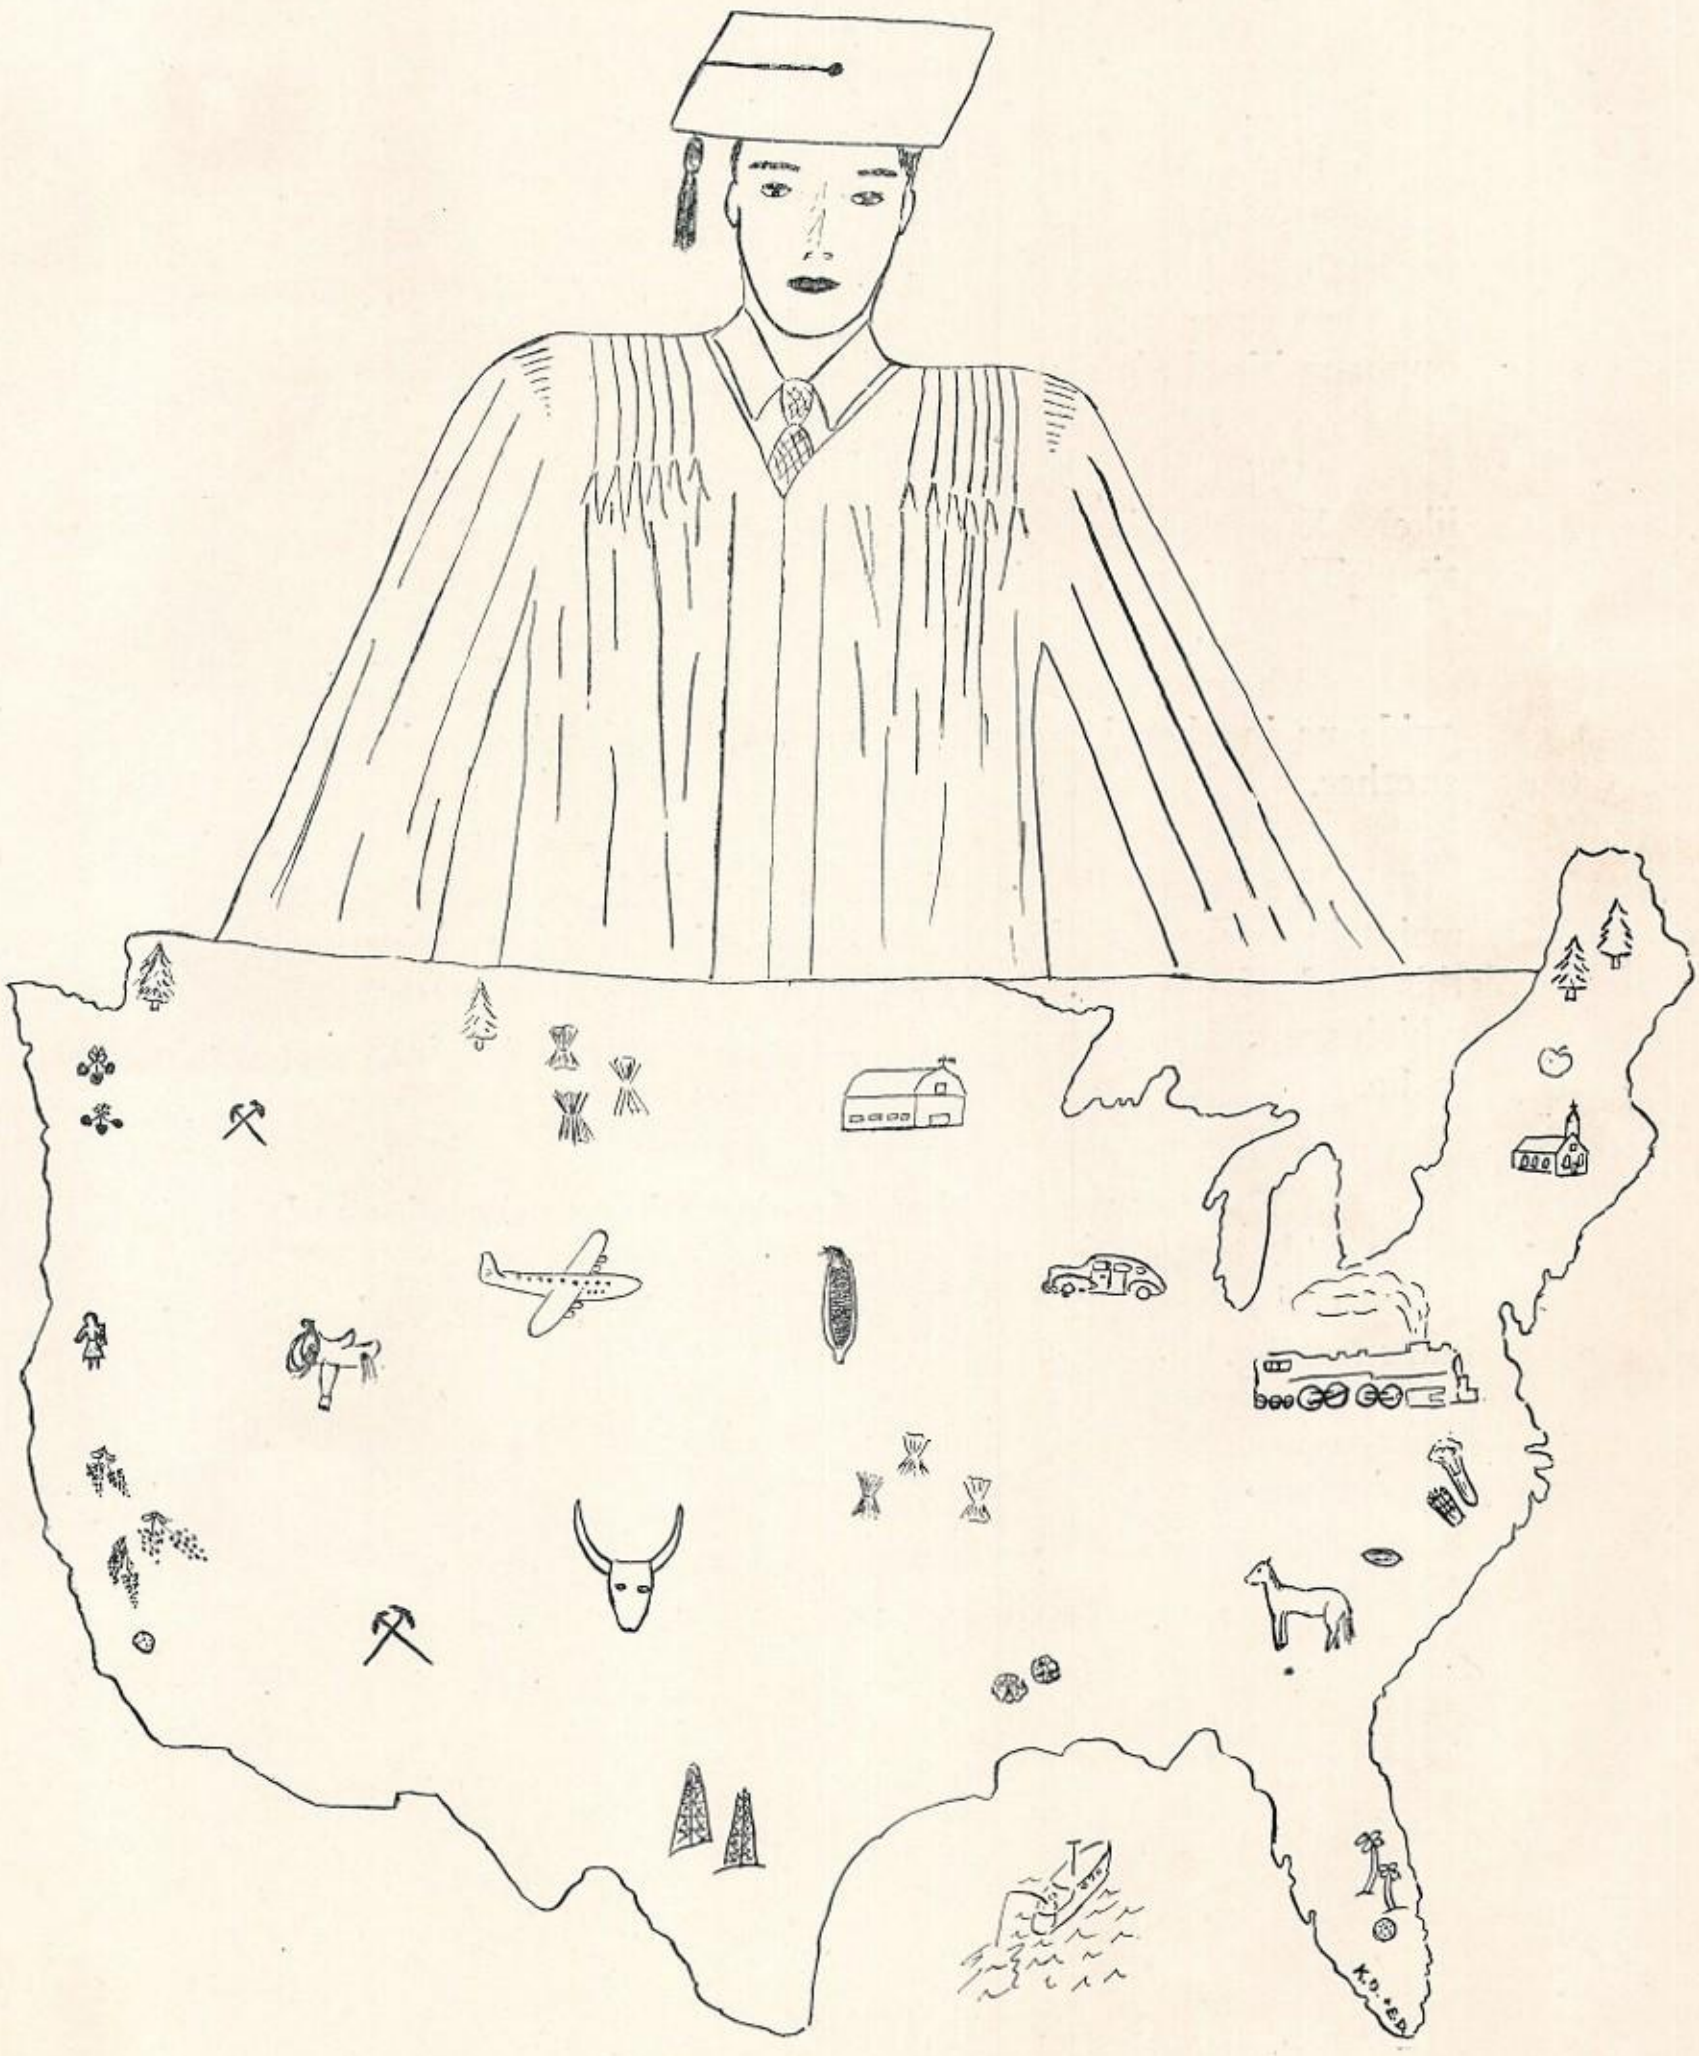
OPPORTUNITY



FOREWORD

We are now on the threshold of a new life. Our future is just behind the door marked "Graduation Day". Like the butterfly which goes through its several stages of development, we soon enter into our full maturity. We see a multitude of opportunities before us.

Which way shall we go? The path we now take will likely determine our future unto death. It is a sobering reflection. There is no turning back.

What we have learned in our 12 years of schooling must guide us in choosing between one realm of opportunity and another.

We have a democratic country which we must help to maintain as democratic. If we have spirit and determination, this land of opportunity affords us many gateways through which we can pass to make our lives into what we want them to be.

In 12 years we have been forging a key to America and the world. We are ready now to unlock the doors of opportunity and behold life and the world in all its richness, variety, and meaning.

In appreciation of his fifteen years of service at Matamoras High School, we, the senior class of 1947, co-dedicate this book to Mr. Boop.

We hope that this page of our book will be some small evidence of our gratefulness to him for the help and advice he has given us in our many profitable school years.

MRS. DOROTHY GOODGION

To one who has faithfully guided us throughout our high school years as our class advisor, Mrs. Dorothy Goodgion, we co-dedicate this book. During the past 4 years she has never failed us, always ready to assist in any emergency and give us sound and practical guidance.

For her many services and kindnesses to us all, we thus tender our sincere thanks and appreciation.

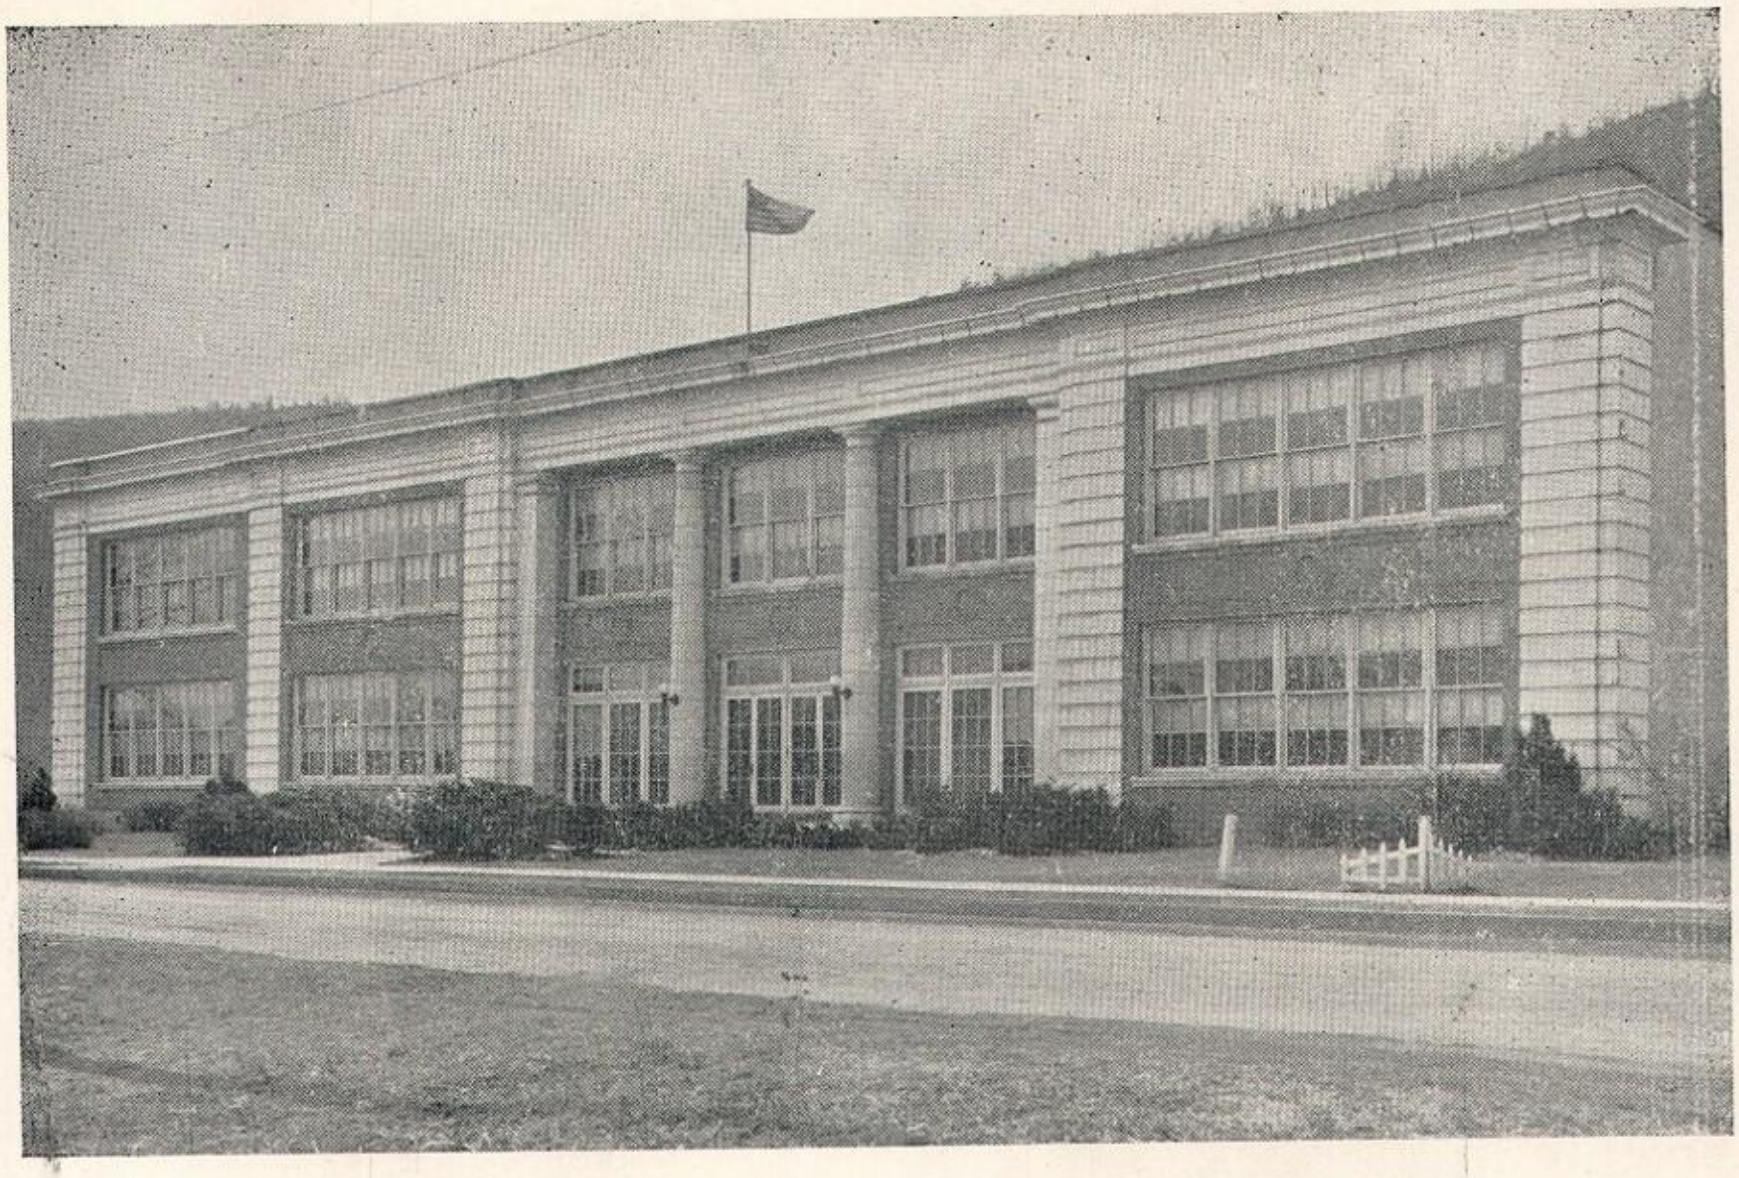
The Board of Education of Matamoras Borough has in every way cooperated with us. Throughout all our school years they have worked with and for the class. In all activities they have taken an eager interest.

As we leave school, we see and realize the many improvements and benefits which they have made possible. We hope that those classes which follow us will enjoy as we did close association with such outstanding citizens as those who make up our school board.

The class of 1947 is proud to include this group in our yearbook.



Matamoras High School

This is dear old M. H. S., the place where we have spent twelve years of our natural lives. We are, of course, very glad to be graduated, but we shall always look back on our school days as the happiest time of our lives.

Our beautiful school was built in 1924, and the first class was graduated in 1925. Since that time many improvements have been made. We are very proud of our splendid grounds and shrubbery.

Rumors are flying about many new improvements for our school, such as the building of a separate gym somewhere in back of the school; also, building a grade school nearby, making this entire building a high school. Perhaps these ideas will never materialize, but we sincerely hope they will. Our younger brothers and sisters could benefit from these or other changes.

But old or new, shining or dilapidated, three cheers for M. H. S.! Long may she dominate the educational scene of Pike County.

Elementary Teachers

When we first stepped inside the school twelve years ago, we were met first by our elementary teachers, whose patience and guidance helped us along the unknown path which lay before us.

They taught us manners, grammar, how to overcome awkwardness, and all the other fundamentals of personal and social life.

We want to thank these teachers for all they have given and taught us upon which we had to build later, and hope they will be able to do the same wonderful work for others in the years to come.

JOSEPH MILTON DENHAM

"Don't be so stupid" — "Joe"

Class president, '46-'47; class treasurer, '45; co-business manager of yearbook; treasurer of A. A., '46 band, '43-'44-'45-'46-'47; cast of "Deacon Dubbs", '46; cast of "Mystery of Crazy Canyon Ranch"; baseball, '46-'47; basketball, '45-'46; sportsmen's club, '45; chess and checkers, '46; art club, '47.

Here we have our class president. Joe's tall figure may always be seen in the midst of all student activities.

For several years Joe's interests were confined to study and sports, but of late a certain dulcet-toned lass seems to have monopolized his time and heart.

In baseball his long stretch on first base has made possible many put-outs for the team.

Joe has done a good bit of printing as a hobby.

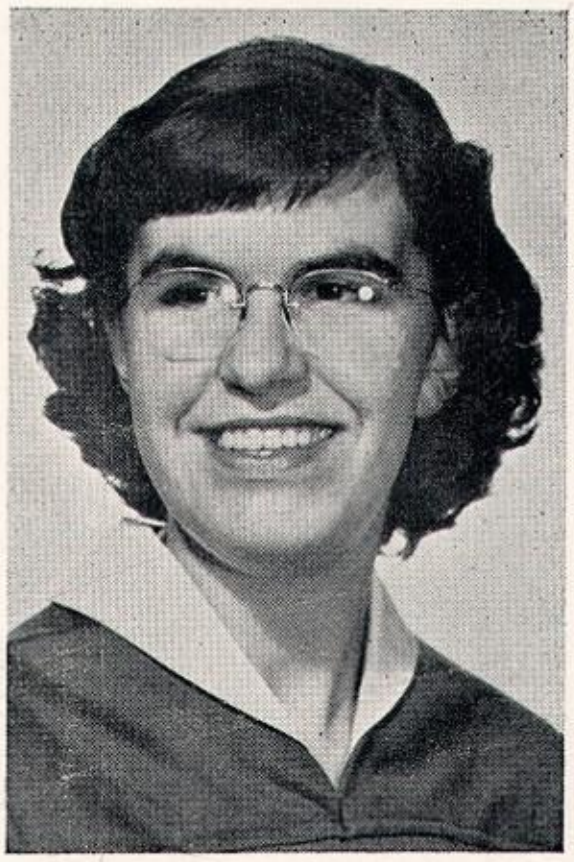
His nature has made him quick to question and present an argument. As the class leader, this trait has prevented anything from being put over on the class. Joe's great willingness to work and uncomplaining nature has been an inspiration to the class. As co-business manager of the yearbook and president of the class, he has shown his ability to carry out responsibility and handle class problems.

Joe's ambition is to become a chemical engineer, and thus he plans to go to Penn State.

JEANNETTE OLIVE BLOKER

"Yipes"

"Job"



Journal staff, '47; prompter of "Deacon Dubbs", '46; prompter of "Crazy Canyon Ranch", '47; glee club, '45-'46-'47; music club, '45; art club, '46-'47.

Jeannette is the dark, quiet, composed girl of the senior class.

"Job", as she is sometimes called, does not participate in any sports, but she is always found rooting for the home team. She is very active in supporting the class fund, and she's always ready to give whatever aid is possible.

Jeannette is also deeply interested in church work. She sings in the choir and belongs to various church organizations, besides taking an active part in the "Youth for Christ" program

Jeannette has the golden voice of the In every assembly program Jeannette plays a few solos on the piano, another art at which she excels.
class. Her singing is always beautiful to hear.

She has already started as a piano instructor.

ELLEN IRENE BOPP

"What a revolting development"

"Bip"

Editor-in-chief of yearbook, '47; basketball, '45, '46, varsity, '47; staff of journal; cast of "Deacon Dubbs"; cast of "Crazy Canyon Ranch"; glee club, '44, '45, '46, '47; dance club, '46-'47.

Well, look what's coming down the hall, the "joker" of the senior class. Ellen is very popular among her classmates and has a very pleasing personality.

Ellen came to our class in our sophomore year from that big city called Lackawaxen. At any social activity one can see her mingling in the crowd. She proved to be one of the promising actresses of Matamoras with her part in "Deacon Dubbs" and the "Mystery of Crazy Canyon Ranch".

As editor-in-chief of the yearbook and fashion editor of the journal, Ellen has displayed an active interest in journalism.

She has also been active on the basketball court as left guard.

You hear Ellen's alto voice skillfully leading the others, for she is a member of our glee club.

After graduation Ellen plans to take up journalism as a career.

VICTORIA ANN COKELETTE

"Good deal" "Vickie"

Class secretary, '46-'47; journal staff, '47; glee club, '42-'47; basketball, '42-'47; cast of "Deacon Dubbs"; cast of "Crazy Canyon Ranch"; art club, '45; dance club, '46, '47.

Vickie, the dark-haired, dark-eyed beauty of our class, is our efficient secretary and our foreign ambassador to Milford. She was always glad to hear of a Milford basketball game approaching, not only that it would be an opportunity to play as left forward, but she was intrigued by the passes of the captain of Milford's boys' team.

Active in all class and school projects, Vickie ably played leading roles in the two class plays.

Continually smiling, a giggle interspersed here and there, Vickie is ready for a chat with almost anyone, anytime. Vickie holds a diploma for diplomacy. If anyone has qualms about asking someone for something, Vickie is delegated the job, and, sure enough, magical results follow.

Time and again Vickie has argued about her column "Scuttle-Butt" in the journal, and her right to print the choicest gossip fare to a hungry student body has been practically unhindered.

DONALD FORREST CUDDEBACK

"Oh, gee!" "Don"

Basketball, 3 years; member of journalism staff, '46, '47; manager of "Deacon Dubbs"; cast of the "Mystery of Crazy Canyon Ranch", '46; dance club, 3 years; dance club president, '46-'47.

Blonde hair, blue eyes, and a big grin is how we can describe Don in few words. Don's personality seems to be winning to everyone, especially Pat.

Don's personality is not the only thing that is winning; so is his basketball playing. Don is a credit to our team and his scores have brought us many victories. He has made as high as 22 points in one game.

He can be seen throughout the halls with a pencil and a tablet in his hands asking all sorts of questions of everybody. Now, don't let the wrong idea creep into your head; he's doing it all for our journal and in the school interest.

"Don" is the one and only farmer in our class, but that doesn't prevent him from coming down to see Pat or participate in school activities.

When asked, Don says his future is undecided.

ELAINE CAROL DAVIS

"What's the difference"

"Davis"

Business manager, '47; cast of "Deacon Dubbs," '46; cast of "Mystery of Crazy Canyon Ranch, '47; ass't. manager of girls' basketball, '47; glee club, '44, '45, '46, '47; journal staff, '47; art club, '45, '47; dance club, '46.

An actress deluxe, a good writer, an intelligent girl, busy as a bee, good-looking, too: that's Elaine.

Tall, rangy, patrician, ambling down the school's halls with a paper in hand, "all business," Elaine has been observed almost daily.

As business manager of the class, she is always seen deep in her ledgers.

Elaine held leading roles in the two class plays and turned in a superb job on both of them.

She is also the capable manager of our girls' basketball team.

Elaine has shown considerable skill in designing. Her designs can be seen adorning the pages of the high school journal.

Elaine's love life is secret; so we Ken't tell about it here.

KENNETH EUGENE DECKER

"Who do you think you're joshin'?"

"Ken"

Varsity basketball, '44-'45-'46-'47; journalism staff, '47; staff of yearbook, '47; cast of "Deacon Dubbs", '46; manager of "Crazy Canyon Ranch", '47; dance club, '45-'46; art club, '47.

Mention sports and on hand will be a blonde, handsome lad in the person of Ken Decker. Hunting and fishing are his weaknesses. For indoor sports he excels on the basketball court, as he has played for four years on the school's varsity.

He loves to tinker around cars, and his big, black Buick can be seen in front of the school every day.

Ken's first and main interest concerns another member of our class. Elaine is the apple of his eye. Elaine and Ken are always to be seen riding around in Ken's 1932 Buick.

After graduation Ken claims that he is going to a barber school to become a good barber like his dad.

PHYLLIS BLANCHE DECKER

"I wouldn't say that" "Phyll"

Staff of journal, '47; cast of "Deacon Dubbs", '46; cast of "Crazy Canyon Ranch", 47; art club, '45; dance club, '46-'47.

Well, look who's here! The class flirt, Phyll, and as usual she's occupied in her favorite pastime, which is pursuing the opposite sex. Phyllis' main hobby is teasing the fellows.

In journalism class Phyll is always found conscientiously working on the "Scuttle-Butt" column in the journal with her partner in crime, "Vickie".

Phyllis usually makes an "entrance" into a classroom and usually after the bell has rung.

P. D. also has dramatic ability, as is evident by the part she portrayed in "Crazy Canyon Ranch".

Orchids to Phyllis for cheerfully doing more than her share selling various items necessary for raising class funds and working on the yearbook.

We have searched and searched the signs of the Zodiac for an inkling of Phyllis' future, but we see fog and darkness only. We are left in uncertainty.

ELDO WAYNE EWBANK

"Now, Wait a Minute" "Beaker"

Vice-president of senior class; ass't editor of the high school journal; cast of "Mystery of Crazy Canyon Ranch", '47; manager of "Deacon Dubbs", '46; cast of "Deacon Dubbs", '46; soccer team, '44; sportsmen's club, '45; dance club, '46, '47.

Here we have the mechanic and muscle man of the class. If there is any noise or disburbance, Eldo is right there with his "Now, wait a minute," and the roar immediately subsides.

Eldo was on the soccer team in '44, and he was a definite credit to it.

Inseparable comrades are Eldo and his relic Ford. So much loving care seems to go into that inanimate object that one wonders how long such a romance can last.

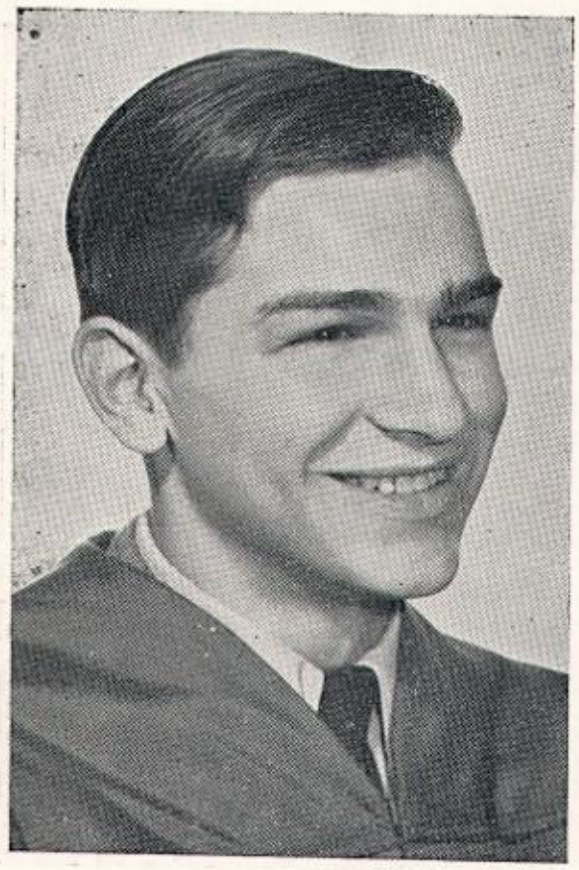
Eldo can be seen at the basketball games watching with wrapt attention one of the cheerleaders and, incidentally, the basketball game.

His ambition in life is to become a diesel engineer. After his graduation he plans to enter a diesel engineering school.

ANDREW ROBERT GASSMANN

"Shut up! or I'll kill you"

"Andy"



Make-up editor of yearbook; varsity basketball, '46-'47; baseball, '46-'47; cast of "Deacon Dubbs", '46; cast of "Crazy Canyon Ranch", '47; art club, '45-'47; dramatics, '46.

Here we have Andy, the good-humor man of the senior class. Anyone of his classmates who is stuck with a "math" problem has only to turn to Andy, who is an authority on the subject.

Andy started this life as a 10-pound baby, has grown into a big 170-pound boy. He is a child no more, and all his opponents on the basketball court realize it. "Handy" is the boy with the leather in his hands and a basket hanging high overhead.

In the cast of "Deacon Dubbs", Andy proved his talent for acting in the role of Darius Dubbs. He was also in the play, "Crazy Canyon Ranch", as Wild-eyed Willie. He got many a laugh from deep down inside.

Andy is a dangerous man when he is let loose in the lab, as his friends, who call him the "Mad Chemist", know. Andy will enter Penn State in September, where he will major in chemistry.

CHARLES HELLER LUTZ

"Fiddlesticks"

"Joe"

Soccer, '44; basketball, '44; sportsmen's club, '44; player in "Life Begins at Sixteen"; staff of journal; dance club, '47.

"Joe" came to our town in 1944. He was in the class of '46 until he heard the call and enlisted in the U. S. Navy. Joe received his discharge in July, 1946 and returned to school in September of that year.

He proved to be a valuable man on the basketball court for M. H. S. in '45.

Tall, dark, handsome and muscular, Joe is a shining example of the well-dressed civilian. Of course, this means that Joe has the usual amount of interest in the glorified female.

Joe finished his required courses in March, 1947. At this time he signed a contract with a professional baseball team and went into spring training in Nazareth, Pa., with the Detroit Tigers.

All his classmates and fellow townsmen are rooting for him.

RITA BLANCHE LUTZ

"Hey!" "Rita Bee"

Staff of the journal, '47; cast of "Deacon Dubbs", '46; cast of "Thursday at Home", '46; art club, '45; dramatics, '46; dance club, '47.

Though the winds may blow and howl, and the snow is flying and falling in 3-foot layers, you are sure to find Rita patiently waiting for the doors of the high school to open.

Rita came to us from Williamsport, Pa., in our sophomore year.

She is an earnest worker, proved by her many sales of greeting cards and other miscellaneous articles. This girl is really a super-saleswoman. In further evidence, we offer her three years of employment with the J. J. Newberry Co. on Saturdays.

"Rita Bee" is not afraid to encounter memeographing or typing which needs to be done for either the class or the principal's office.

Rita's ambition, so she states, is to become the secretary of some rich, old bachelor. In the meantime Rita plans to attend Berkeley Business College in Harrisburg.

WILLIAM CHARLES McCULLOUGH

"I don't think I like your attitude" "Punch"

Staff of journal, '46-'47; cast of "Deacon Dubbs", '46; manager of "The Mystery of Crazy Canyon Ranch", '47; library club, '45; dance club, two years; vice-president of dance club, '46-'47.

The one and only dashing red-headed Irishman of the class is our friend Bill.

His red hair, blue eyes, and charming personality seem to hold a magnetic attraction for the ladies. Bill has entered into the senior competition for the female prizes among the lower classmen.

"Bill", as the hired man in "Deacon Dubbs", played a hilarious role with real gusto! At times "Bill" really displays a remarkable sense of humor.

He is known as the B.T.O. of the class. He can be found at Moon's Sweet Shop at any hour of the day, giving the boys a hard time or learning new tricks from reading "Batman."

Bill is always ready to do his share of work for the class. He has served as circulation manager of the journal this year and did his best to fill that office.

RAYMOND MARSHALL PENNELL

"Watch it, Buddy"

"Buddy"

Co-business manager of yearbook; cast of "Deacon Dubbs"; cast of "Crazy Canyon Ranch"; journal staff; science club, '45; dance club, '46-'47.

A thunderous roar and a cloud of dust. What is it? "Buddy" in that trusty model T. (Very often a "slick chick" is with him, too).

"Buddy" hails from the metropolis of Mill Rift. He descended upon us in 1943. He was then and remained a welcome addition to our class.

Mr. Pennell was the sole proprietor of the Matamoras-Mill Rift Toonerville trolley.

"Deacon Dubbs" and "Crazy Canyon Ranch" proved "Buddy" to be a capable performer on the stage. He assisted in making both plays a howling success.

"Buddy"' could always be seen at basketball games rooting for the home team from the sidelines.

Incidentally, Ray must have worn out a great many pair of shoes, because we heard he has made quite a few trips up to John Ast's.

EVELYN THERESA RIGGIO

"Shut up!"

"Ev"

Secretary of class, '45; treasurer of class, '46, '47; editor-in-chief of journal, '47; assistant editor of yearbook, '47; varsity basketball, '44, '45, '46, '47; cast of "Deacon Dubbs"; cast of "Crazy Canyon Ranch"; dance club, '45, '46, '47.

Wham! bang! she goes careening down the floor with opponents strewn behind her on the court. Whenever "Ev" is on the basketball court, there are plenty of thrills.

For four years "Ev" has played varsity basketball, a veteran whose ability has aided the team in many a victory. She assisted greatly toward achieving the string of victories in 1945, 1946, when the Matamoras basketball team was undefeated for two seasons.

Dark-haired, dark-eyed, genial Evelyn was also editor of the school journal and assistant editor of the Delaware in '47. She was one of the best-dressed girls in her class, no small evidence of her personal interest in fashion designing.

GWENDOLYN DORIS ROE

"Stop it, you fellas!" "Gwen"

Member of journalism club, '46-'47; "Mystery of Crazy Canyon Ranch", '46; library club secretary, '44-'45; dramatic club, '45-'46; dance club, '46-'47.

Gwen is a fine example of the old proverb, "All good things come in small packages." She's the smallest girl in the class, but one of the most ambitious.

Her blue eyes, charming personality, and stenographic ability are things to be reckoned with by her future boss or boy friend (or both). Though quiet and subdued, she has a natural dignity and lady-like air that her classmate try to ruffle now and then but respect her for having, nevertheless.

Gwen is the general "handy man" of the journal staff. Her jobs are many and varied and she does them all efficiently and capably.

Displaying excellent acting ability in the senior play, "Crazy Canyon Ranch", Gwen played a personality role directly opposite that of her own, that of a tough "gun moll". Everyone knows Gwen wouldn't hurt a fly — unless she were aroused, of course!

[Afflicted with tuberculosis from childhood, later having his leg amputated, Henley wrote this poem in a hospital bed shortly before he died. We can only desire to face our future with the same spirit.]

INVICTUS
(Unconquerable)

Out of the night that covers me,
Black as the Pit from pole to pole,
I thank whatever gods may be
For my unconquerable soul.

In the fell clutch of circumstance
I have not winced nor cried aloud.
Under the bludgeonings of chance
My head is bloody, but unbowed.

Beyond this place of wrath and tears
Looms but the horror of the shade,
And yet the menace of the years
Finds, and shall find me, unafraid.

It matters not how strait the gate,
How charged with punishments the scroll,
I am the master of my fate:
I am the captain of my soul.

At the beginning of the year Mr. Heberlig was our capable advisor. He had been with us for two and a half years. At the end of the first semester we lost him as he took up his duties as assistant principal. We then had Mr. Dutko for the remaining half of the year.

On November 8, 1946 we put on our play, "Crazy House," which was directed by Mr. William Clark. It was enjoyed by all.

April 11th we held our Junior-Senior Party, which turned out to be a gala affair.

We had the soda concession in the school gym and sold pencils, both of which helped to place a goodly sum into our class treasury.

The seniors of '48 wish the seniors of '47 good luck and the best of everything.

SEVENTH GRADE

This year the seventh grade has been divided into two parts. Miss Lehn has 7-2, and Mrs. Davis has 7-1.

The seventh grade had its first class meeting on September 12, 1946. Then the following officers were elected:

President ..... GLENN WILLIAMS
Vice-President ..... BRADFORD NORTON
Secretary ..... FRANCIS MAILLET
Treasurer ..... BARBARA PFLANZ

The grade dues per meeting was decided upon and set at ten cents.

The next meeting we decided to have a Hallowe'en party in the auditorium. There was a committee selected to see if we could have the party. Mr. Boop said it was all right; so we had it on October 30, 1946. Mrs. Krause and Miss Lehn were our chaperones, and we all had a wonderful time.

On October 31, 1946 we had a special meeting. It was decided that each seventh grader would be taxed five cents extra.

At the last meeting, in February, 1947, we discussed our next assembly program.

Boys' Varsity Basketball

Coach Purdue started the season with many new features which the players had not seen for many years.

The season started with the first few games being lost. Then the team became more confident and began winning. High scoring player for this year is Donald Cuddeback with 22 points.

With Coach Purdue the teams in the future are going to be undefeated. Graduation, however, will take a heavy toll from the basketball squad of next year. Three boys, Captain Decker, Gassmann, and Cuddeback, played their last game for M. H. S. This leaves only two veteran varsity players for next year. These two will be strengthened by some of the promising J. V. players of this year.

The 1946-47 schedule and scores follow:

Girls' Basketball

Excerpt from Port Jervis Union-Gazette:

GIRLS WIN OVERTIME

"The Matamoras girls are the happiest bunch in the world today, as they closed their season with a tremendous victory over Milford, their arch rivals who had held the Indian sign over them until last night. Coming up with a great defense in the three-minute overtime period, Eve Riggio, Ellen Bopp, and Kathy Ast stood up like great pillars and rejected every Milford assault.

"For the Matties it was a foul throw by Betty Bloker and a field goal by Pat Wozniak that broke the 11-11 deadlock. PatWozniak was the big gunner for the Matties as she pumped eleven counters through the hoop."

Practically a new team was organized this year. Many of the new arrivals had little experience, but they did a fine job with what little they knew.

Miss Irene Miller started as our able coach until she left in December. Miss Marie Longo then filled the vacancy left by Miss Miller.

The one and only veteran of the undefeated team of 1944-45, 1945-46, Evelyn Riggio, acted as coach in the guard section. Phyllis De Angelo was the coach of the forward section. The girls were thankful for her cooperation and interest in the basketball team.

Much fun was had by this group of rising stars, and we can assure you that in the future they will be a winning team.

Left to Right: Mr. Elmore Purdue, David Goble, Harold Edwards, Richard Malone, George Campbell, David Dilger, Russell Schumacher.

The Junior Varsity

Under the direction of their capable captain, Dick Malone, the J.V.'s have obtained 6 victories out of 8 games. Two games were lost at Sussex, but they tried hard, anyway. They further proved their ability by winning the game in behalf of the Infantile Paralysis Fund; also, three games they played with the Y.M.C.A. League.

The Junior Varsity this year is something to talk about. Just let them get a hold of the ball and the other team doesn't even get a chance at it. They boast a strong, healthy, handsome group of boys, and we are mighty proud to say that they are members of a Matamoras High School team.

Keep up the good work, boys, and keep that ball rolling for more victories for good ol' M.H.S.

The 1946-47 schedule and scores are:

Matamoras	11	Hamburg	6
Matamoras	13	Sussex	17
Matamoras	9	Milford	7
Matamoras	12	Sussex	21
Matamoras	17	Milford	15
Matamoras	15	Hamburg	12
Matamoras	15	Milford 12	12
Matamoras	22	Milford	8
	114		98

Left to Right: Ellen Hudson, Denise Murphy, Elizabeth Parker, Shirley Shay, Joan De Angelo, Sylvia Clark.

Cheerleaders

"Team! team! team!" is a refrain often heard coming from the basketball court. Our cheerleaders are in action again, helping to bring the many victories which our teams have won.

The cheerleaders come tripping out with their blue skirts and white sweaters asking for the support of the eager home rooting spectators, which they know they will get and always do.

Something new has been added to the cleverness of the Matamoras cheers. Many unusual interpretations of the old cheers have made cheering more interesting; such as:

Barney Google, Andy Gump
We've got Milford
Up a stump!

Some tricky new cheers have been added to the long list of cheers of M. H. S.

First Row, left to right: Shirley McCusker, Charlotte Sievers, June Healey, Joan Warren, Jeanette Bloker, Geraldine Krause, Barbara Gillette, Madeline Caliciotti, Joyce Farrell.
Second Row: Joan Young, Patricia Wozniak, Reva Loux, Doris Theodore, Evelyn Sanford, Shirley Mead, Joan Cleveland, Shirley Teachmen, Ellen Bopp, Betty Bloker, Kathryn Ast.
Third Row: Mary Ellen Mahoney, accompanist, Victoria Cokelette, Patricia Turner, Carlene Green, Louise Kokolias, Beatrice Cherry, Alberta Bopp, Miss Marie Lehn, music supervisor.

Glee Club

The combined glee clubs this year include sixty girls, of whom the twenty-seven pictured above are senior members.

Under the leadership of Miss Marie Lehn, music supervisor, assisted by Miss Mary Ellen Mahoney, accompanist, this group of young singers enjoy regular rehearsals of fine music, most of the songs being first and second soprano and alto harmony.

Many hours are spent in preparation for the annual spring concert, which is the main event of the year.

It has been customary during the past several years for the senior glee club to exchange assembly programs with Port Jervis High School sometime in May. This year for the first time the club had the pleasure of combining with the Port Jervis boys' glee club to sing Christmas carols in four-part harmony.

Band

Directors—Miss Marie Lehn, conductor; Mr. Albert Heberlig, instrumental director.
Clarinets—Elizabeth Parker, Rolland Scott, Harold Edwards, Thomas O'Connor, Kenneth Brown.
Drums—Glenn Williams, James Riggio, Reynold Benson.
Cymbals—William Getter.
Saxaphones—Richard Basham, Sylvia Clark, Eldridge Garms, Shirley Scott.
Trumpets—Joseph Denham, Herbert Williams (absent).
Baritone—Peter Toussaint.
Melophone—Mary Ellen Mahoney.

We are especially proud of our excellent band which, under the leadership of Mr. Albert Heberlig, bandmaster, has contributed much to the culture and spirit of our school. Mr. Heberlig not only excels in mathematics, but is also an accomplished musician, giving technical instruction to each band member.

The student body has the opportunity of hearing the band regularly in assembly. One of the main events in the spring is the concert given by the band and glee club.

Front Row, left to right: Kenneth Brown, Louis LaBarr, Carl Buchanan, Peter Toussaint, Harold Edwards, Richard Gassmann, Russell Schumacher.
Second Row: William Steele, Roger Laizure, Richard Malone, Andrew Gassmann, Joseph Denham, George Campbell, Charles Lutz, Mr. Elmore Purdue.

The Baseball Team

On this group of young men, above, Matamoras will pin her hopes for the coming season in baseball. This is the red and blue's second season in this sport, and with the experience gained last year our team should give a good account of itself in its contests.

Pete Toussaint will resume his pitching assignment for the Matamoras High School team. Many of the other team members are veterans of either last year's high school team or the summer team in the Y. M. C. A. League. It is to be noted that Matamoras won the 1946 Y. M. C. A. championship behind Pete Toussaint.

Junior Play

One of the highlights of every class' high school days is the presentation of their first play. That event, so eagerly awaited, is perhaps the most exciting thing in the year to those concerned.

The curtain went up at 8 P. M., April 5, 1946 on "Deacon Dubbs", our first endeavor. This melodramatic comedy was the first play of its type to be presented in the Matamoras High School auditorium in many years. It was very well received and declared a huge success.

Mr. William G. Clark was our capable director. His sound advice was a factor in our success.

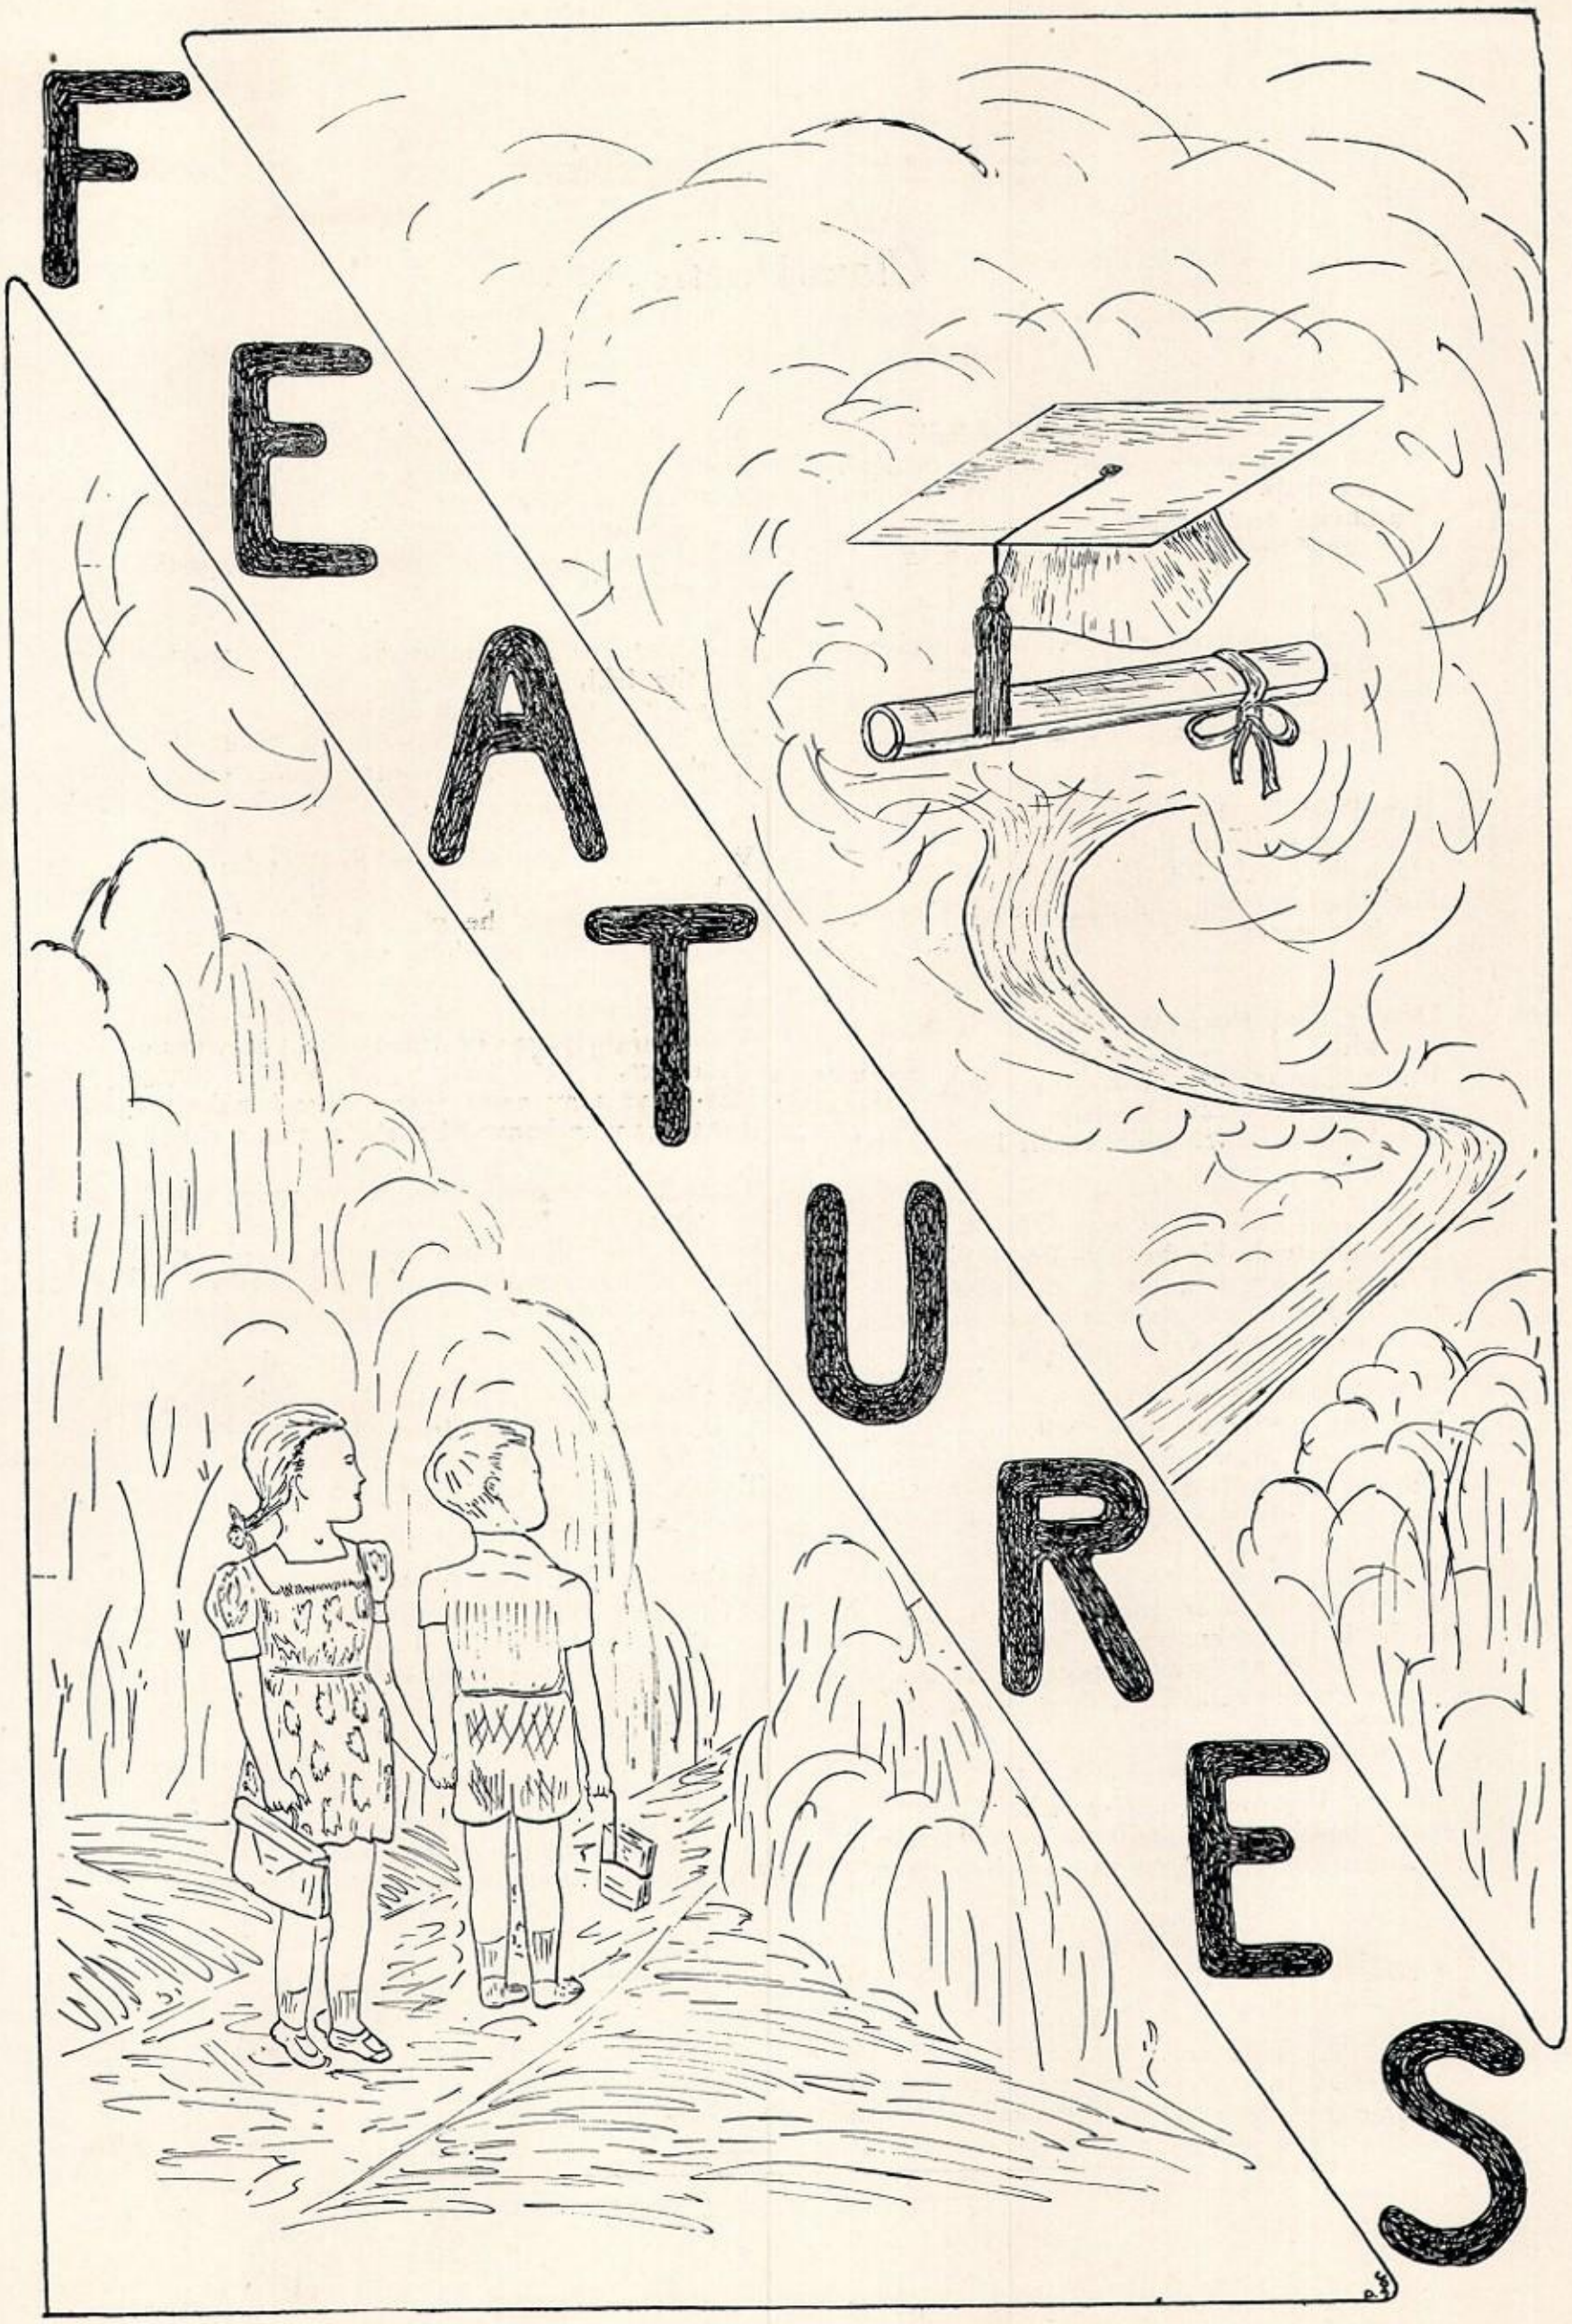
Georgia Thayer and her two friends go west to manage a ranch inherited from Georgia's uncle. Upon arrival, the girls fine Wild-eyed Willie, a comical western character, in charge.

The girls employ Minnie-Winnie-Ninnie to lend atmosphere. Minnie has a boy friend, Standing Cow, who contributes to the fun. Complications arise when Peter Sheldon, owner of a neighboring ranch, calls on the girls. Georgia doesn't know whether or not to suspect him of murdering her uncle or to love him.

Two criminals are at large and arrive at the ranch to hide. Sheriff Jim Courtney and Peter prove their worth by capturing the bank robbers, who are Elijah and Phoebe Stockbound.

Georgia and Peter, Jennifer and Jim, Ann and Willie provided enough romance, while the two Indian characters carried the comedy. Finally, the solution was found, but only after the story had been packed with thrills, chills, and laughter.

FEATURES



Class Poem

Evelyn, who likes to play basketball,
May be seen running and laughing through the hall.
Markovits' food store is in her plan,
And luck be hers 'til she lands a man.

Gwen, the shortest member o' our class,
To Stan she is quite a lass.
Believe me, friends, she is usually silent,
Hard to get aroused, and never violent.

Ray Pennell, the Romeo of our class,
Is after every cute little lass.
He hails from Mill Rift town:
Each morning the powerful model-A brings him down.

Donnie Cuddeback at basketball is quite a whiz.
But one question is now quite a quiz.
He really is a likeable chap.
For further information you'll have to ask Pat.

Ewbanks with his broken-down Ford
Will probably end up in the morgue.
But he'd still look good as a spot of grease.
If you don't believe us, ask Denise.

Ken Decker plays basketball, you know.
He helped make our score grow.
To one girl he'll never be a pain;
You know the girl; just call Elaine.

Bill McCullough is our redhead;
So he is better known as "red".
In our class he is an important factor,
And with the girls he is quite an actor.

Elaine the lovable, Elaine the fair,
She and Ken make quite a pair.
She'll be a Dutch maid in our Flo-Jean's
'Til she and Ken grow out of their 'teens.

Next there's Vickie, the flirt of the class.
She'll chase every fellow just for a laugh.
And then, when the right man comes around,
She'll step down and say, "I'll take your crown."

Laughing and giggling as she walks through the hall,
Our Ellen Bopp is not very tall.
She is the girl who's up on the jokes.
If they were told tonight, you'd enjoy them, folks.

With a great big smile and howdy-do:
This describes our D.B.—Phyllis to you.
A silk mill slave she plans to be,
She'll make out all right, we all agree.

With shiny red hair and eyes full of fire,
More knowledge of men she'll always desire.
Her ways may seem reserved and quiet,
But to us who know Rita, she's quite a riot.

Then here's to Jeannette, who's quiet and shy;
For all the fellows she has no eye.
She'll always remain to us quite a lark.
For her songs may be heard from dawn to dark.

As class president, Joe did the work.
And we as the class drove him berserk.
And for relaxation he'd go down to see Vi,
To sit and eat hot dogs and watch the lovers stroll by.

Andy, who hails from down Milford way,
We're sure that from thinking he'll turn grey.
But Andy intends to go to college
So that he may secure a little more knowledge.

Our boy, Joe, an ex-G.I.,
Looks over the girls as they pass by.
He works at a store where they sell shoes,
And I'd like to count all the girls he woos.

Class Will

We, the class of 1947, have been known for various traits throughout our school years. In the following paragraphs we will bestow these characteristics on certain members of the high school. It is our sincere hope that these fortunate individuals, who are the recipients, will appreciate and take good care of the things we are leaving them.

When we are out in the wide, wide world, we shall be continually looking back to make sure that all the traditions are being carried on.

Jeanette Bloker leaves her "love" of all math to half of the students in the high school.

Donald Cuddeback bequeaths his "women trouble" to Harold Edwards.

Ellen Bopp gives her knack for spouting wisecracks to Carl Buchanan.

Elaine Davis bestows on Alberta Bopp the girls' basketball managership.

Victoria Cokelette leaves her 'worn and torn' book on "The Art of Snaring Men" jointly to that bevy of beauties in the junior class.

Herbert Williams is the recipient of Joseph Denham's trumpet playing "ability"; also, his hair "style."

Rita Lutz bequeaths her "sex appeal" to Shirley McCusker.

Andrew Gassmann says that Jon Palmer will now bear the title "Hands."

Ray Pennell leaves to Ralph Shaffer the job of squiring a bunch of of girls to school in his Ford every day.

Gwendolyn Roe bestows her shyness and studiousness on Joyce Decker.

That loud guffaw heretofor coming from William McCullough will now issue from the larynx of David Dilger.

Evelyn Riggio will let Kathryn Ast in on the secrets of "hipping."

Joseph Lutz leaves his title of "Big Time Operator" to Donald Basham.

Phyllis Decker leaves her familiarity with the fellows to Lois McCusker.

Kenneth Decker bequeaths his position as the strong, silent man of the senior class to Peter Toussaint.

Eldo Ewbanks leaves his art of giving all the girls a hard time to Ken Brown.

Signed,
THE SENIORS

Prophecy

Upon waking from a bad dream, I found it was raining. The wind was howling, and all of a sudden I realized it wasn't a bad dream, for I was in a jumble of steel girders and bricks. The place, a super-chemical plant, had been blown up by its president, Andy Gassmann. He'd been working with the new "wonder chemical", tridiementhocloroxiferic-trypalicon, which would make dog biscuits from pine needles. I concluded I was out of a job, so I headed to my apartment, picked up my luggage (one handbag), and set out for Port Jervis.

I was fresh out of money when I arrived there, having lost it in a poker game on the way, so I had to walk home.

I trudged through the underpass and over the bridge – home at last! But what was that? No longer was the old Decker barber shop there, but a new two-story building, the Ken-Elaine Beauty Parlor, Inc. As I turned around for one last look, I saw a tall girl come from the building with a boy that looked just like Ken. So I concluded that this was Elaine, now a wife.

Across the street I saw a sign which made me feel happy, for it told me one of our classmates had conquered her ambition. It read: "Vocal and Piano-forte Instruction by Miss Jeannette Bloker."

Woody's Ideal Market was no longer in its place, but instead there was a sign which announced an "Advice to the Lovelorn" Agency. Opening the door gave me a view of a lush office, and there was Rita Blanche Lutz behind the desk. I had suffered from a headache; so I told Miss Lutz my troubles: how my husband went out after bread two years ago and hadn't come back yet. She promptly advised me to send out someone else for the bread.

Feeling much relieved, I went into the post office and asked the postmaster for a 3c stamp. I paid the gent and suddenly realized that it was Bill McCullough. I guess he hung around there so much they finally had to put him to work.

This shock called for a little nourishment. I decided to go back up the street to Moon's Sweep Shoppe. Just as I had expected, there was Phyllis (who else?) Decker working as a soda jerk. She had bought Bill's share in the business and now she and George ran it together. The clock struck four and some railroaders walked in. Someone slapped me on the back, and with a hearty "Hello, Buddy!", I knew that the fascination for "choo-choo" trains had caught up with Ray Pennell.

Then Gwen Roe came in, and she showed me the two little Garm twins, Eldridge Jr. and Gwendolyn Jr. She announced that married life was fine.

The school was still standing. I went inside. I peeked into the office but there was no one there. I walked through the high school and still no principal. Then I looked into first grade, and there was Joe Denham, the new principal, supervising Mrs. Denham (Vi) in her reading class.

I left the school and went to Pennsylvania Ave. There was a large block-sized manufacturing plant, the Eldo Ewbank Diesel Engine Company. I guess he had hit the jackpot, for I saw him smoking big cigars as he drove away in his limousine.

I wandered in the general direction of Vickie's and saw a large greenhouse in the corner vacant lot. Vickie was inside with her tweezers, pulling weeds from her flowers. She said she had tried to cross a wooden leg with a silkworm so that she could get silk stockings, but it was a failure because they didn't have a straight seam. I asked her about Evelyn and received the heartening news that she had the most fashionable clothing shoppe in the tri-states area.

After I left her I headed toward Milford in my mother's car, and just before reaching there I saw a large house in the shape of an ear of corn. There were four tractors plowing the field, and when I stopped near them, I saw it was Don Cuddeback. He was now a big farmer and was living off the land. He and Pat and the junior Cuddebacks were running the place.

Prophecy On the Prophet

Upon making a visit to Matamoras some time after graduation, I thought it would be a good idea to go up and see my old friend, Raymond.

When I arrived at his house, he was ready to go over to the Glenwood; so I decided to go over with him.

Much to my surprise, who should be our waitress but Ellen Bopp! After Andy had built up her future to terrific proportions, she had been forced to take a job in her old capacity as a "hash-slinger".

Class History

FRESHMAN YEAR

Long, long ago in the month of June, 1943, we nineteen earnest, hard-working eighth graders formed the freshman class of Matamoras High School.

Two features marked the first day in our history. One was the fact that we had fifteen cents in the treasury; the second fact was that two new members, Gwendolyn Roe and Raymond Pennell, both of Mill Rift, joined our class.

We started the ball rolling by selecting the class motto "Multum In Parvo", meaning "much in little". The white rose was chosen as the class flower; and maroon and gold, the class colors.

Andy Gassmann and Joe Denham made our banner. We don't like to boast, but—ahem—we think it is the nicest banner ever made in our school. We certainly are proud of the fine job the boys did on it.

With the final business of selling candy and holding Friday night dances, we swelled our treasury to fifty dollars. We concluded a successful beginning and went home for a much-needed vacation.

SOPHOMORE YEAR

We lost three members in our sophomore year and gained two. One person forgot to close his ninth grade books; Art Pflanz left us for the Navy; and Florence Sievers went to Florida. We added Ellen Bopp and Rita Lutz, who hail from Lackawaxen and Williamsport, respectively.

We were lucky in gaining control of the soda concession from the juniors. This helped add up the dollars for our trip to Washington. It was in this year that we sold the unforgettable candied apples and popcorn. We had set our goal for one hundred fifty dollars. I might add that this goal was accomplished way beyond the mark.

JUNIOR YEAR

Our third year rang up, and, believe me, we were quite the busy little bees. Unfortunately, we lost another member. Although we decreased in number, we still kept up our power to finance our Washington trip.

We still had the soda concession. Of course, the main attraction was the junior play. We produced "Deacon Dubbs" with a well-chosen cast and had a very successful turn-out.

However, the year was not all work and no play. As juniors our boys and girls showed great ability on the basketball court.

We held the Junior-Senior Party, featuring Bill Boyd's orchestra. Everyone enjoyed the music and had a gay time.

We chose our senior class rings—gold with a ruby stone.

SENIOR YEAR

Now you find us in our senior year. The only differences are: (1) we have more burdens on our shoulders, and (2) we received two veterans into our class.

We started right by producing "The Mystery of Crazy Canyon Ranch." Like the other play, it was a great success.

With the thought of the trip to Washington on our minds, it was decided to sell stationary, candy, and Christmas candy. Believe me, that had us running both ways.

With all this business to transact, we still had the yearbook to keep us on our feet. Then the Senior Prom.

Our happiest day was in February, when our class rings arrived. We all proudly flashed them off to everybody.

Despite the fact that we have witnessed the coming and going of innumerable teachers, we have muddled through it all and still held to our motto, our hope, "Multum In Parvo."

With us the teachers have suffered many trials. In return we have gleaned some training, some information, and perhaps a smattering on how to live. For these things we are thankful.

My Most Embarrassing Experience

DON C. – The day I ripped my pants in school and sewed them with green thread.

ELDO E. – I never had one.

GWEN R. – When I served a dinner to the wrong table last summer.

VICKIE C. – The day Mr. Heberlig caught me chewing gum in assembly and remarked about it to everybody who was present.

JOE L. – Accusing a person of taking my ring, and I had forgotten my girl had it.

PHYLLIS D. – The night I spilled a coke on my dress while I was up in Jack's and it started to shrink.

JOSEPH D. – Missing a potential third-out throw to first base, which opened an eight-run rally, in my first high school baseball game.

JEANNETTE B. – Forgetting the tune while singing a solo at a recital.

ANDY G. – Doing a chemistriy experiment twice, which didn't work either time.

ELLEN B. – Sorry, I don't blush.

ELAINE D. – Whoo! Whoo!

KEN D. – The night I had Elaine out in the Chevy, and I blew a tire. I didn't have a spare; so I had to walk her home.

RAY P. – Going to the alumni banquet.

RITA L. – Walking to the theatre with a fella and meeting my steady on the way out.

BILL McC. – When a certain girl walked up to me and asked me to take her out.
